Dear Parents,

Reading Bands

It has been brought to our attention that some children are having their reading records signed retrospectively, some days after the actual date they are supposed to have read. This is unfair on those children who ensure their records are signed each night and it also causes additional work in school.

So, to make it clear, from Monday next week we will not accept any reads if they have been signed for after the date they were counted. The children's reading records are checked every Monday afternoon/Tuesday morning in readiness for assembly on the Tuesday. The number of times they have read is indicated in their reading record. We will no longer be changing this if their record is altered at a later date at home.

Thank you for your help and understanding with this.

Yours sincerely

K.Middlemore
